STAT

Area of Coverage: China - Southern Region, Fukien and Kwangtung Provinces

Subjects Covered: Economic and Financial review of 1950; plans and fulfillment of plans; land reform; readjustment of commerce and industry; cotton textile industry. Charts and tables.

Scholarship Evaluation: Competent and scholarly treatment of economic and financial conditions by Communist and pro-Communist economists and commentators

Review: Presents a comprehensive report of economic and financial conditions in Communist China during 1950. Reports are roughly divided into two parts. The first part deals with the nationwide economic situation, the cotton textile industry, land reform, interest rates, and the readjustment of commerce and industry. The second part is more detailed and covers the economic situation in South China with special emphasis on Kwangtung and Fukien Provinces, Canton, and Amoy. The reports in this part discuss banking and finances, trade, and industrial development.

The section on China was written by 21 financial writers, including Ta'o Ta-yung and Ch'ien Chia-Chu. Other sections deal with Hong Kong, Malaya, "capitalist" countries, and the Soviet Union. The yearbook also includes a chronological summary of important economic and financial events of the world during 1950.
